"Pedicaris Alive or Raisuli Dead!"
The demand made upon the Sultan of Morocco in June, 1904,
by John Hay, Secretary of State for the United States, after Ian Pedicaris, a rich American, had been seized and held for ransom by the bandit chief. Back of the Hay demand were the guns of American warships.

Captor of Pedicaris and MacLean and Figure in International Complications Slain by a Tribesman.

PARIS, April 27.—Raisuli, the noted Moroccan bandit, has been assassinated, according to a dispatch from Tangier to-day.

Rumors of the killing were at first doubted, but the latest message confirms them and leaves little doubt that the outlaw has been slain.

It is reported he fell a victim to hostile tribesmen who had waited for some time an opportunity to end his life.
Raisuli had been for several years one of the most conspicuous figures in Morocco.

He was once a pretty chieftain unknown except for his own few followers, but won fame throughout all Morocco while still comparatively young by his plucky resistance of the oppressions of the Governor appointed by the Sultan over the district in which he lived.

ESCAPED FROM HIS PRISON.

The Governor sent a strong force of troops against him and after considerable skirmishing, Raisuli was captured, loaded with chains and thrown into prison to die.

Under the discipline to which he was subjected he would undoubtedly have succumbed soon. Escaping, however, with the aid of a few of his followers and taking to the desert, he began a guerrilla warfare against the Sultan.

MADE MACLEAN A PRISONER.

The Sultan continued to make efforts to wipe out Raisuli and his band, and Raisuli determined to give him a fresh lesson. He started negotiations with the Sultan, and in the end, he was released, and he went back to his prisoners, and he was not a prisoner.

$500,000 IN MAIL BAGS

Big Robbery of Securities Puzzling Postal Authorities.

SECRET SERVICE QUEST

NEW YORK, April 27.—One of the greatest transatlantic mysteries developed to years ago from the statement called from London that two mail bags containing securities and other valuables reported to be worth $500,000 have been lost or stolen in New York in transit from the ships that brought them here to the general post office. The postal authorities to-day are making a most intensive investigation which is covering many American cities.

They have tried to keep the story quiet, but it became known today through London sources of authority, which authorities report, notwithstanding the efforts of the United States authorities, London reports the loss as one of the most remarkable of centuries.

The postal authorities, both here and in Washington, while not denying that two bags were missing today, indicated that the securities and other valuables were not in the bags. The postal authorities in London, however, were ready to admit that two mail bags "might be lost" in the general post office. According to the London cables, one of the bags arrived here on March 26 on the White Star liner Mauretania. It was reported that it was handed over to the post office on the 27th. The other bag, it was reported, was handed over to the post office on the 28th. The postal authorities in London, however, were ready to admit that two mail bags "might be lost" in the general post office.

It is the contention at which Mr. Ellor Olyn, the English woman who wrote "Three Weeks" and "The Girl in the White Dress," is in Chicago. She leaves for the West tonight.

CHICAGO, April 27.—"Divorce appears to be the institution that makes you Americans the happiest people on earth. More divorces are granted than in any other country. Three times as many divorces are granted in Chicago than in any other city. Therefore Chicago is the happiest city in the world."

PARALLEL IN TWO GREAT BAY STATE MURDER MYSTERIES

The Mabel Page Case
in MysteryFIND HOPE OF SOLUTION ONE MONTH AFTER TRAGEDY AT SQUIRES FIELD.

By Clement L. Pollock.

The baffling mystery that surrounds the murder of Annie Mullins, who was killed in the Arlington case, has only served to deepen the interest of the people of the community and extend the circumference of the sensation.

The first point in the present murder mystery that recalls the noted Weston tragedy is the fact that both young women were killed in the same month, March.

Sketch showing how Mabel Page was found slain in her room in Weston home, and photograph of Charles L. Tucker, who was executed for her murder.

Death scene in Mullins mystery. How body of girl victim appeared when found in Squires Field, Arlington. WHO was her slayer?

Striking Parallel Between Cases of Annie Mullins and Mabel Page

In these striking particulars a remarkable series of coincidences is found to exist between these two murders of girls, both of which shocked Massachusetts. For the slaying of Mabel Page at Weston, Charles L. Tucker finally suffered death in the electric chair. WILL THE MURDER OF ANNIE MULLINS BE AVENGED?

Both girls were slain in the same month—March; Annie Mullins, March 27, 1908; Mabel Page, March 31, 1904.

Both were girls of irreproachable character, so that the cause could not be found in questions of character.

There was no known motive in either case. The motive for the slaying of Mabel Page has never been discovered to this day.

A man is believed to have done the killing in each case, and the weapon a sharp instrument. Mabel Page was stabbed with a knife. Annie Mullins's throat was cut; it is believed with a razor.

The authorities suggested suicide in each case; in both cases the weapon was missing.

A nearby brook was dragged for the weapon in each case, and without avail.

Weeks elapsed without a clue being found in either case. Men were taken into custody and questioned by the police in both cases.

Annie Mullins in her New-England home. The father is contradicted with a story that the man who was charged with the murder of Mabel Page was a stranger.

GIRLS CROSSED
OCEAN TO REED
CANNOT LIVE

A day ahead of her schedule the Altan steamer Nantux arrived in port today with her cargo of girls and sixty-three passengers, among whom were two young women coming from Scotland to be married here.

Miss Helen Geddes of Glasgow was killed by the ship by H. G. Wright, a sailor, who came to this country a short time ago and has since been employed at the Altan.

The accident occurred at H. R. & R. K. Hughes' Hotel, which is the hotel where the girls were staying.

Miss Jeanette B. South came to meet her sister, who was coming from Scotland, and was with her when the accident occurred.

The girls were coming to be married here, and the accident occurred on the way to the altar.
